

LOOKING FOR A NEW MUSICAL INSTRUMENT?

Why not buy one that helps support music education?

What is The Music Hub?

The Music Hub is a social enterprise musical instrument and supplies business. We believe in creating profit for purpose: running a sustainable business that invests its surplus in delivering social value and impact. We combine this core value with our passion to support music education and inspire and nurture the future generation of musicians. So we reinvest our profits from selling musical instruments primarily in youth music education services.

Why did you decide to form a social enterprise?

We have over 30 years' experience in the manufacturing, distribution and retail of musical instruments. We firmly believe that business has a role to play in its local communities and in wider society and, as musicians ourselves, we know the vital role music plays in education. That's why everything we do helps to support the service provided by hubs and or fledgling community music programmes across the country.

Why is music education important?

The UK has always led the field in the education and development of some of the finest musicians, songwriters and composers in the world. Many of the country's finest musicians hail from Bromley. We believe that music education is vital in ensuring future generations of musicians are able to enter the profession fulfilling real jobs with real potential. Schools and music hubs have a critical role to play in developing the future generation of musicians both in teaching the fundamentals of music theory and in growing performers; solo and ensemble.

What do you supply/ sell?

Anything and everything that's music related. Instruments, effects and studio equipment, PA, lighting, staging. We'll help source anything our customers need. We'll also consider part exchange and finance arrangements.

Who can buy from you?

Anyone! Whatever your requirements, we'll be happy to see how we can help and we'll donate all our surplus to music education.
